

If this is a lasting water supply...

Everyone knows there's more to a sustainable water supply than a pump, yet many pretend otherwise.

Typically, 30% of new pumps fail.

Which begs the question, how much of your investment in WASH is helping deliver sustainable systems that will last forever?

If you're uncertain, ask us for the complete picture.

The good news is it doesn't have to be like this. Sustainable systems can bring safe water and sanitation to everyone by 2030.

This isn't just another campaign message. It's a real solution and it's happening now.

We're working with partners around the world to strengthen and create systems: district by district, country by country.

What's also true is that if we act together and move as one, we can overcome this.

Step by step, working in partnership, we can deliver sustainable WASH systems that are far greater than the sum of our parts.
